We conduct business operations that maintain our uniqueness and independence in the Takara Holdings Group. We never carry out transactions with the parent company for the benefit of the parent company or the detriment of the Company and minority shareholders. Transactions with the parent company include the licensing of trademark rights, outsourcing of computer-related services and leasing of information-related equipment, and transactions with other companies of the parent company's group include the sale of products and the leasing of real estate (the Company's office buildings). Our basic policy in all of these transactions is to determine the terms and conditions, including the amount, of each transaction after discussions and negotiations based on market prices, etc., the same as with general transactions.

In addition, with the aim of protecting the interests of minority shareholders, we seek the advice and recommendations of the Special Committee, an optional committee, on matters relating to significant transactions or acts in which the interests of the parent company or its subsidiaries conflict with those of our minority shareholders.

5. Other Special Circumstances that May Have a Material Impact on Corporate Governance Update

As of September 30, 2023, Takara Holdings Inc. (listed on the Prime, Tokyo Stock Exchange; securities code 2531) is the Company's parent company, holding 60.93% of the voting rights in the Company. The relationship between the Company and Takara Holdings is as follows.

1. The position of the Company in the Takara Holdings Group (Takara Holdings and its associated companies)
The extraordinary general meeting of shareholders of Takara Shuzo Co., Ltd. (now Takara Holdings Inc.) held on February 15, 2002 approved the proposal to spin off the alcoholic beverage and food business, and biotechnology business with the aim of maximizing the special characteristics of each respective business and creating a business environment that would increase the growth potential and competitiveness of both. On this basis, Takara Shuzo and the Company were established on April 1, 2002, through a corporate split, with each becoming a wholly-owned subsidiary of Takara Holdings (since then, Takara Holdings' ownership of voting shares in the Company has decreased to 60.93% due to third-party allotments of new shares, capital increases through public offerings, etc., implemented by the Company). The Takara Holdings Group consists of Takara Holdings Inc., the holding company, and 67 affiliated companies (65 subsidiaries and 2 associated companies). Within the Group, we are positioned as a subsidiary specializing in biotechnology business, and are promoting biotechnology business together with the nine affiliated companies (subsidiaries) of the Company.

2. Management of Group Companies by Takara Holdings Inc.
Takara Holdings Inc., has established and operates the Takara Holdings Group Management Rules from the perspective of consolidated business management. However, its objective is to maximize the corporate value of the Group as a whole while maintaining the independence and autonomy of Takara Holdings Group companies. The rules also apply to the Company and we report on resolutions, etc., made by the Board of Directors to Takara Holdings, but we are not required to gain prior approval from Takara Holdings for the resolutions of the Board of Directors and we manage our business operations independently.

Furthermore, various meetings have been established within the group. Those pertinent to us are the "Group Strategy Committee" and the "Takara Bio Coordination Committee". These meetings are intended to foster reporting between Group companies and in their current form, do not impede the independence and autonomy of the Company.

The current corporate executives who hold positions at both the Company and Takara Holdings are as follows.

Koichi Nakao (President & CEO of Takara Bio Inc., Director of Takara Holdings Inc.)

Mutsumi Kimura (Director of Takara Bio Inc., President of Takara Holdings Inc.)

The concurrent relationships above occurred because Koichi Nakao was invited to join Takara Holdings Inc., due to his ideas on consolidated management under the holding company structure of Takara Holdings Inc., and Mutsumi Kimura was invited to join the Company because he has a wealth of experience and results in the areas of corporate planning, finance, accounting, public relations, general affairs, human resources, etc., and demonstrated leadership as the executive vice president of Takara Holdings, Inc., and it was judged that he would strengthen the Company's corporate functions and realize the sustainable growth and the improvement of corporate value of the Company. The purpose of these appointments was not for Takara Holdings Inc., to control the Company.

Established

Disclosure of the Policy for Determining Compensation Amounts and Their Calculation Method

Matters concerning the policy for determining compensation amounts, etc., for corporate executives and their calculation method

1. Basic way of thinking

The Company's basic concept related to compensation for corporate executives is to employ talented human resources as managers, motivate them more strongly towards the execution of management strategies and establish an annual compensation system that will lead to the further improvement of corporate value.

Based on the performance evaluation method approved by the meeting of the Board of Directors held on December 16, 2019, the amount of compensation for corporate executives is determined by the president and CEO, authorized by the Board of Directors, within the limit of compensation resolved upon at the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders, taking comprehensively into account their positions and individual contributions to the Company's financial results, and with the advice and recommendations of the Nominations and Compensation Committee established voluntarily by the Company.

2. Compensation system

Compensation for corporate executives is comprised of fixed compensation and variable performance-linked compensation in accordance with the Company's financial results so that the responsibilities of directors and their contributions to the Company's financial results can be reflected. Fixed compensation is 50% of the amount of compensation for the previous fiscal year, and variable compensation is determined by a Company-wide performance evaluation and a divisional performance evaluation, on the basis of 50% of the amount of compensation for the previous fiscal year.

Only fixed compensation is paid to directors and auditors independent from the execution of business within the limit of compensation resolved upon at the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders.

3. Calculation method for variable compensation

The calculation method for variable compensation for directors who execute business is based on a Company-wide performance evaluation (25%) and a divisional performance evaluation (25%) based on a comparison of operating profit against the budget and the previous fiscal year. The Company-wide performance evaluation fluctuates within a lower limit of 90% and an upper limit of 110%, and the divisional performance evaluation fluctuates within the range from 80% to 120%.

4. Resolution of the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders on Compensation for Corporate Executives

The details of a resolution of the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders regarding the compensation of corporate executives are as shown below.

i) Date of resolution at the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders

June 23, 2017

ii) Directors

Annual amount to be no more than 184.8 million yen (including within 30 million yen for external directors)

Performance-linked compensation

Annual amount to be no more than the amount equivalent to 5% of consolidated operating profit an annual basis in the previous fiscal year

[Support System for External Directors (External Corporate Auditors)]

In the convocation of a Board of Directors meeting, external directors are sent proposals and other related materials in advance, as well as explanations by the directors in charge, etc., as required. Under this system, external directors monitor the execution of duties by directors. Apart from attending meetings of the Board of Directors and other important meetings, the Company's external auditors receive reports from directors, etc., on the state of execution of duties, view important documents, and audit the execution of duties. Furthermore, Internal Auditing Department provides supplementary explanations as required, including on the state of cooperation with Internal Auditing Department (four full-time members), etc.

2. Matters Related to Functions such as Business Execution, Auditing, Oversight, Nomination, Determination of Compensation, etc. (Overview of the Current Corporate Governance System)

The Company has adopted an Audit and Supervisory Board system, and three of the five auditors are external. Under this system, auditors attend meetings of the Board of Directors and other important meetings, receive reports from directors, etc., on the state of execution of duties, view important documents, and audit the execution of duties.

The Board of Directors consists of nine directors (of whom three are external directors, including two women) who meet whenever necessary in addition to the regular monthly Board of Directors meetings. The board makes decisions on management policies, matters stipulated by laws and regulations, and important issues concerning management matters, and oversees the state of execution of duties by directors. In addition, with officers (nine excluding directors who are also executive officers, including one woman.) participating as observers at Board of Directors meetings, this system strengthens the function of reporting on the state of execution of duties and allows for quick communication and confirmation of the intentions of management.

To protect the interests of minority shareholders, the Company has established a special committee under the Board of Directors to provide appropriate advice and recommendations. The committee is composed of three or more independent members, including external corporate executives, and the chairperson is selected from among its members, ensuring the independence of the committee. The committee deliberates and considers matters relating to significant transactions and practices where the interests of the Company's parent company or subsidiaries conflict with those of minority shareholders, and provides advice and recommendations to the Board of Directors based on the results.

Nobuko Kawashima (external director), Kazuko Kimura (external director), Noriomi Matsumura (external director), Kunihiko Kamada (external auditor), Yasuo Himeiwa (external auditor), and Masaaki Makikawa (external auditor)

The Company is audited by Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu LLC. The audit for the fiscal year that ended in March 2022 was conducted by Takashi Iwabuchi and Yuya Minobe, certified public accountants of Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu LLC. In addition, 7 certified public accountants and 17 other people assisted in these auditing activities.

We also receive advice as needed from lawyers regarding business management and day to day operations.

Pursuant to the provision of Article 426, Paragraph 1 of the Companies Act, we stipulate in our Articles of Incorporation that the Board of Directors may resolve to exempt directors and auditors (including former directors and auditors) from liability for damages due to neglect of duties to the extent permitted by law. The objective of this provision is to ensure that directors and auditors are able to perform the roles expected of them to the full. Furthermore, based on the provisions of the Articles of Incorporation pursuant to the provisions of Article 427, Paragraph 1 of the Companies Act, the Company has entered into agreements with external directors and external auditors that limit their liability for damages to the legal minimum set in Article 425, Paragraph 1 of the Companies Act.

3. Reasons for Adoption of the Current Corporate Governance System

As a company oriented towards highly specialized research and development, we have judged that the most appropriate corporate governance system for the Company is the current one, under which directors who are deeply knowledgeable about our business are able to make decisions and supervise business execution flexibly, with a clear sense of ownership and a sense of speed, while highly independent external directors who possess knowledge and experience related to our business work with the Supervisory Board to supervise business execution.

IV Matters Related to the Internal Control System

1. Basic Views on the Internal Control System and the State of its Development

Based on Article 362, Paragraph 4, Item 6 of the Companies Act and Article 100, Paragraphs 1 and 3 of the Ordinance for Enforcement of the Companies Act, we made the following determinations regarding the development of the systems necessary to ensure that the execution of duties by directors complies with laws and regulations and the Articles of Incorporation, and other systems necessary to ensure the appropriateness of operations as a corporation.

1. Systems to ensure that the execution of duties by directors and employees complies with laws and regulations, and the Articles of Incorporation, as well as systems to ensure the appropriateness of operations at the corporate group comprised of the Company, its parent company and subsidiaries

- i) We established and manage the "Takara Bio Compliance Committee," chaired by the president and CEO as the organization that supervises the compliance activities of the Company Group as a whole.
- ii) This committee specifies clearly the action guidelines related to the "law and social ethics" that each and every one of the Company Group's corporate executives and employees should observe, and provides education for corporate executives and employees within the Group through group training and daily guidance in the workplace based on the "Takara Group Compliance Action Guidelines" formulated by the Compliance Committee, under which the Takara Bio Compliance Committee operates, established at Takara Holdings Inc., the Company's parent company (and to which the Company also sends members and working members).
- iii) By observing these action guidelines, we will respond resolutely to anti-social forces and have absolutely no relationships with them.
- iv) "Helplines" have been installed and are operated in the Compliance Promotion Department of Takara Holdings Inc. and external third-party institutions as reporting portals in the event that a corporate executive or employee discovers a violation of laws and regulations or other unfair practices in operations within the Group and it is impossible or difficult to resolve or prevent the problem by normal means and methods in the course of business. The Group has been informed that disadvantageous treatment of anybody who reports a problem due to that reporting, etc., is prohibited. v) We conduct internal auditing based on the "Internal Audit Regulations" and strive to ensure the proper execution of duties by taking necessary measures based on the results of such internal audits. Furthermore, the divisions responsible for internal audits are independent organizations to ensure a sufficient check function against audited departments, etc.
- vi) The Company Group complies with related laws and regulations and the listing rules established by the Tokyo Stock Exchange, develops company-wide systems to ensure the reliability of financial reports, and evaluates and improves these systems to enhance them continuously.
- vii) With regard to the relationship between the Company and our parent company, Takara Holdings Inc., Takara Holdings was established as a holding company from the perspective of consolidated business management and the "Takara Holdings Group Company Management Rules" apply to us, operated with the aim of maximizing the corporate value of the group overall while maintaining the independence and autonomy of group companies, including the Company. We report regularly to Takara Holdings information such as the matters resolved by the Board of Directors of the Company, and the state of the business activities of the Company and its subsidiaries.
- viii) With regard to the relationships between the Company and its subsidiaries, we receive regular reports on business activities while maintaining the independence and autonomy of the subsidiaries. In principle, we discuss important matters in advance. In addition, the company's auditors and divisions in charge of internal audits work together to implement on-site inspections of subsidiaries and carry out audits from the perspective of ensuring the appropriateness of business execution.

2. Systems to store and manage information related to the execution of duties by directors

So that we can confirm the state of execution of duties by directors and employees appropriately after the fact, the Company formulates internal rules related to guidelines on the preparation of records of the state of execution of duties, such as the minutes of General Meetings of Shareholders, minutes of meetings of the Board of Directors, approval documents (documents of decisions made by the president, etc.) and other documents related to decision-making, as well as storage periods, management systems (including security systems), etc., for those records.

3. Rules and other systems on the management of the risk of loss

- i) The Takara Bio Compliance Committee supervises the overall "crisis management" of the Company Group, and under the supervision of the committee, each division works on activities to prevent or mitigate risks in the areas of "laws and social ethics," "safety and quality of products and merchandise," "safety and health" and other aspects of the environment surrounding the Company Group.
- ii) If an emergency occurs, we will respond based on the "Takara Group Emergency Response Manual" and establish an emergency response headquarters as needed, centered on the president and corporate executives in charge of compliance matters.

4. Systems to ensure the effective execution of duties by directors

- i) We hold regular meetings of the Board of Directors once a month, and other meetings as needed as the basis of the system to ensure that the duties of directors are executed efficiently.
- ii) We have established a system for directors and employees to execute duties and make decisions appropriately and promptly by formulating "Rules for Dividing Roles and Responsibilities" and the "Rules for Authority" to clarify the internal line of command and the division of roles and responsibilities.
- iii) Under the supervision and instruction of the Board of Directors or individual directors, project teams are organized in each responsible division or cross-divisionally as needed to work continuously on the streamlining, acceleration and computerization of operations to ensure the efficiency of management.
- iv) We conduct internal audits from an efficiency perspective, and strive to ensure the efficiency of the execution of duties by taking necessary measures based on the results of such internal audits.
- v) We establish management systems at Company subsidiaries along the standards of those at the Company.

5. Matters concerning employees in the event that their appointment is requested by auditors to assist in their duties, and matters concerning the independence of those employees from directors

If an auditor requires the appointment of an employee to assist in the performance of the auditor's duties, that employee will be appointed after a system has been established that ensures the independence of that employee from directors in terms of the chain of command under which that employee is appointed, their position, benefits, etc.

6. Systems for directors and employees to report to auditors and other systems to ensure that audits by auditors are conducted effectively

- i) In addition to meetings of the Board of Directors, auditors attend important meetings such as the strategy meetings of a business division to grasp the state of important decision-making processes and business execution. Auditors may view the minutes of meetings of the Board of Directors, approval documents (documents of decisions made by the president, etc.) and other important documents related to business execution, and have the authority to request explanations from directors and employees as necessary. Furthermore, divisions in charge of internal audits maintain close coordination with the auditors to implement audits effectively and efficiently.
- ii) If directors discover a fact that may cause significant damage to the Company, they must report this to the auditors in accordance with laws and regulations. If directors of Company subsidiaries discover a fact that may cause significant damage to the subsidiary, they must report to the auditors of the Company via the division in charge of managing the subsidiary.
- iii) Directors and auditors of the Company will ensure that anybody who makes the report above is not treated disadvantageously due to the report.

7. Matters concerning guidelines related to the processing of expenses or obligations arising from the execution of duties by auditors

When an auditor requests an advance payment or reimbursement, etc., of expenses arising from the execution of duties, the Company will promptly process those expenses or obligations, excluding cases where the costs are deemed unnecessary for the execution of the duties of the auditor.

Please refer to "Schematic Diagram of Corporate Governance System" at the end of this document.

2. Basic Views on Eliminating Anti-Social Forces and the State of Development

We will deal resolutely with anti-social forces such as racketeers and organized crime syndicates, and will have absolutely no relationships with them. Even if we receive an unreasonable demand, we will take a resolute stand and will not attempt to resolve the situation by handing over money and goods. We will not conduct any transactions with anti-social forces or business partners who have a relationship with anti-social forces. This basic view is stated clearly in the aforementioned "Takara Group Compliance Action Guideline," which have been established as a code of conduct for each and every corporate executive and employee to comply with the "law and social ethics," and we are disseminating these guidelines thoroughly. The Company distributes a portable manual booklet containing the guidelines to all corporate executives and employees, and gives instructions so that they can be confirmed whenever needed. In addition, we have designated General Affairs Department as the department that oversees the handling of the above. It has been striving to collect information from specialized external organizations such as the police authorities, as well as local companies. If something happens, the department responds in close collaboration with relevant specialized organizations.
